

Jeremy Trevis

Head of Compliance and Consumer Banking Legal & Compliance UAE and the Middle East

Jeremy Trevis is currently the Head of Compliance and Consumer Banking Legal & Compliance for UAE and the Middle East. He has held this position since April 2011. Jeremy moved to the UAE in May 2009 and initially held the role of Head, Compliance UAE. He is a member of the UAE management committee.

Previously Jeremy was based in Manilla, Philippines for two years as Head, Legal, Compliance & Assurance, Philippines. He also had responsibility for Brunei and Australia and served on the Philippines management committee.

Jeremy joined Standard Chartered in March 2004 as Group Legal Counsel in the Group Legal dispute resolution team. His work covered handling a variety of the Bank's material global disputes in jurisdictions such as US, Jersey, India, Pakistan, Indonesia, Malaysia, Korea, Singapore and UAE.

Prior to joining Standard Chartered, Jeremy spent 12 years at the international law firm Lovells (now Hogan Lovells) in their dispute resolution team and specializing in international fraud and insolvency. Jeremy acted for a number of clients including the liquidators of BCCI, HRH Prince Jefri Bolkiah, the liquidators of Bell Group, the trustee in bankruptcy of Paulo Gucci, Raytheon and Equitable Life. His time at Hogan Lovells included an 18 month secondment as acting company solicitor of Equitable Life.

Jeremy holds an LLB (Hons) law degree from Manchester University. He is a UK qualified solicitor completing his legal practicing certificate at York Law School.

Jeremy is married to Natalie and has two sons, Stanley, aged 3, and Frank who was born in January 2012. His interests are football (he is an avid Aston Villa fan), cricket, music and travel.