

Philippe Dauba-Pantanacce

Senior Economist, Middle East & North
Africa Region

Philippe Dauba-Pantanacce joined Standard Chartered Bank's research team as Senior Economist for the Middle East and North Africa (region).

Philippe has vast experience in economics and global financial issues, with focus given to the Emerging Markets.

Most of his career Philippe has been in asset management including various positions in an international bank both in New York and Paris where he was responsible for its asset management's global emerging market funds expertise for their Continental Europe clients. Prior to that, Philippe worked in diplomatic relations for the French embassy in Washington DC and as a legislative aide for a member of the US Congress.

Philippe has a Bachelor's degree in Applied Economics, a Masters in Business Management from the University of Paris Dauphine, a Masters degree in International Relations from Sciences-Po Paris and a Masters in Emerging Markets Finance from Columbia University, New York.